In classroom...

o The students read the texts they are going to translate and answer questions before translating it. The use of the computer is not allowed.

o Then they use Machine Translation and chatGPT. They compare and contrast the outputs to evaluate the quality of each translation method.

o We review and decide which translation is most suitable and how it could be improved.

o In the classroom, students employ various resources such as dictionaries, parallel texts, and glossaries to enhance their translations.
